

Touch a New World

Learn how to use an iPad at home

Touch a New World is a free service available to Kent Library customers who are not able to get to their local library. We can loan you an iPad for up to 8 weeks and offer one-to-one training in your own home from a volunteer, so you can learn how to use the technology.

With step-by-step help, the volunteer will show you how to do a number of useful activities – such as setting up an email account, learning how to send and receive messages, searching the internet for topics you are interested in, and how to shop online safely and securely.

“I don’t feel so isolated, the world can come into my life.”

Why not give us a call today and we can arrange:

- Your series of 8 x 1 hour weekly guided sessions
- Your iPad, which will be loaned to you for the period of the training so that you can practise. Alternatively if you already have your own computer, we can help you use this more expertly.
- For your volunteer to show you how to use the internet and support you as you start to use the internet yourself.

“I am so grateful for this service. You feel of value again, you feel empowered. Go for it. It doesn’t matter what your age is, try it.”
