The area includes benches and can be accessed from the Easy Access trail.

There are a mixture of wooden and stone sculptures offering a tactile experience as visitors can interact with the sculptures from all sides, feeling all sculpted detail. The heights of the sculptures are suitable for wheelchair users, and smaller children.

Plants available in the garden depend on the season, but offer further tactile and fragrance experiences that are distinct, but confined so that entering the sensory garden is not an overwhelming experience of competing sensory information.
